

REVIVE MOVE TO SECURE A NEW BRIDGE

Mayor Slothower Out- lines Efforts He is Undertaking

Mayor William Slothower is leading a movement, whereby Dixon may obtain a new street wide bridge across Rock river, replacing the present Galena avenue structure. For several days the mayor has been in touch with federal and state officials, securing information necessary to launch a plan for the new bridge structure. In discussing the plan today, Mayor Slothower directed attention to yesterday's catastrophe at LaCrosse, Wis., where a structure collapsed, causing loss of two lives, and he also referred to the tragedy at the bridge spanning the Franklin creek, some months ago, where the structure west of Franklin Grove collapsed, causing the death of John Spratt.

"In each instance, the bridge structures were old, and the same is true of the Galena avenue bridge," the Mayor stated today. "In old bridge structures, there is always the danger of crystallization of steel and I am inclined to the belief that with both federal and state highways crossing the Galena avenue bridge, a new structure can be built with little cost to the city, and it is toward this end that I am now working."

Council Session

Vade Pierce of this city presented to the city council at last evening's session, petitions bearing several hundred signatures, requesting the city council to erect a municipal bathing pool, with no additional taxation and to be paid for out of the earnings. The petitions were filed with City Clerk Blake Grover. Mayor Slothower stated that he would not sign bonds for such a project until he had the assurance that the amount of the bonds and the interest would be paid to the purchasers of the bonds.

Commissioner Cal Tyler of the department of public health and safety told the council that charges had been made that members of the police department were showing partiality in the enforcement of the city traffic ordinances, in the safety drive, now being conducted state wide. The commissioner stated that he had investigated the source of the complaints and reported that no partiality was being shown by the police or city officials in the enforcement of the rules and ordinances. This statement was endorsed by Mayor Slothower. Commissioner Tyler also expressed his appreciation to the motorists of Dixon in their co-operation in safe and sane driving.

Storm Drain System

City Engineer Thomas Clayton reported to the council the result of his survey in the south east section of the city, in the proposed construction of a storm drain system. He estimated the minimum cost of such an improvement at about $10,000, adding that in his opinion such a system would be inadequate in emergencies. A larger system, he estimated would cost approximately $17,000.

A resolution providing that the department of highways maintain streets in Dixon at an expense amounting to $1,635.43 from July 1, 1935 to June 30, 1936, was adopted by the council.

The applications of William T. McCord for a soft drink license and David Gardner for permission to erect an electric sign at 118 Hennepin avenue were granted.

CLIPPER PLANE SETS RECORD IN HAWAIIAN JAUNT

It Clipped Its Former Time for Flight by 45 Minutes

Honolulu, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Pan American Clipper, aerial explorer of the Pacific, today completed without mishap and on schedule her third flight from Alameda, Calif., to Honolulu.

The Clipper alighted at Pearl Harbor at 5:42 A. M. (10:12 A. M. Central Standard time).

Her time for the flight from Alameda was 17 hours 12 minutes, breaking all records for the California-Hawaii crossing and surpassing the ship's own record of June 13 by 45 minutes, when she alighted 17 hours 57 minutes after leaving Alameda.

Day was just breaking as the Clipper broke through the clouds hovering over Oahu to the east. She passed over Honolulu flying at an altitude of 500 feet.

The Clipper escaped rains which had fallen heavily here during the night. Captain R. O. D. Sullivan, master of the flying ship, said, "The rain here had stopped before daylight."

Among the small group which met the ship at Pearl Harbor was Postmaster General James A. Farley, who is vacationing here.

The flight completed today was made at altitudes ranging from 1,300 to 11,000 feet. Pan American Airways officials here said the ship had left her chartered course several times to make special surveys of air conditions, and that all types of weather to be expected on the 2,400-mile route had been encountered.

HOUSE PASSAGE OF GUFFEY BILL NEXT WEEK SEEN

Washington, Aug. 10.—(AP)—House passage next week of the Guffey bituminous coal stabilization bill was the goal set today by administration leaders.

They were convinced that they had the votes necessary to get the measure out of the ways and means committee Monday with a favorable recommendation. The Senate has yet to act on the legislation—a "must" bill on the president's calendar.

The Guffey bill would set up a little "NRA" within the bituminous coal industry. A national coal commission would be created to regulate wages, hours, production and trade practices. Regulations would be enforced through a tax on producers, most of which would be returned to those who signed up to observe them.

House leaders conferred yesterday with senate chiefs and were told that the senate would have the opportunity to act on the measure before adjournment, possibly late next week or the first of the following week.

Considerable opposition to the bill has been expressed in the house as a whole. However, a poll was reported to have shown a small majority in favor of it.

Battle Scarred Sloop, Sent Down in Revolution, Brought to Surface

Burlington, Vt., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The battle-scarred sloop Philadelphia, bearing a cargo of human bones and rusted cannon balls, lay in shallow water today after a rest of nearly 160 years at the bottom of Lake Champlain.

The Philadelphia was once a part of Benedict Arnold's proud fleet. It went down in defeat at the Battle of Valcour Island Oct. 12, 1776, in a fight with British men-o-war and remained undisturbed in 60 feet of water until a recent visit from divers.

The sloop made its re-entry into the water yesterday, when it was raised by a derrick aboard a

CONTRACTS FOR 'HUMAN' ICICLE

But Law May Interfere With Doctor's Plan to Freeze Man

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Stephen Simkhovitch, 34, has agreed to become a human icicle for science under a contract entered into here with Dr. Ralph S. Willard, the monkey freezing chemist. Simkhovitch, powerfully built, was chosen for this unique experiment from among 180 persons Dr. Willard said had offered themselves in the interests of medical science.

The chemist said the experiment will begin as soon as a refrigerator suitable to contain the human subject can be built.

Informed of the matter, Dr. Geo. Parrish, city health officer, declared Dr. Willard was "entering a dangerous field."

"The law in most states is so drastic that a person attempting suicide and failing, is immediately prosecuted. I am sure the law would not permit Dr. Willard to carry his human guinea pig idea any further than the exploitation stage."

Attorneys who drew the contract added that if circumstances arise to prevent making the experiment in the United States it will be carried out in Mexico or any other country where no interference is offered.

Dr. Willard, who said he has frozen solid and later revived small animals over a period of six years in seeking aid for tuberculosis sufferers, announced he had brought one rhesus monkey, named Jekal, from a frozen state last Monday without apparent ill effects.

A second monkey died and a third, Dr. Willard said, still is frozen in but is to be revived next week. "I ask only a quit claim," Simkhovitch insisted today. "In event I die I want it so no claim possibly can be made against Dr. Willard."

OUTBREAK HOG CHOLERA FEAR OF AUTHORITIES

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Evidence that an outbreak of cholera is threatening the new pig crop in several sections of Iowa and Minnesota is causing packers some concern lest the disease further reduce the record low volume of receipts.

In the last few days packers' hogs from widely separated sections have been condemned by government inspectors at their plants because of cholera.

Most of the diseased hogs have come from counties in northwestern Iowa, along the eastern rim of Iowa, and in western Illinois and southern Minnesota. Hogs from such counties as Clinton, Des Moines, and Clay in Iowa, Mercer in Illinois and Blue Earth in Minnesota have been rejected lately by inspectors at the plant and farmers are being warned to protect their droves.

Dr. Robert Graham of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, urged Illinois farmers to vaccinate against the disease, stating that because of the scarcity of hogs and the high prices, the animals are well worth saving.

Scouts May Camp on Funds for Jamboree

Harold G. Boltz returned Friday night from New Milford to contact Scout committee chairmen of Dixon's troops regarding the sending of boys to Camp Rotary.

Since the National Jamboree has been cancelled all the money raised by each troop to send one or two boys to the Jamboree has been refunded. The Jamboree was covered by insurance to the amount of $300,000. Mr. Boltz inquired of committeemen the feasibility of sending the entire personnel of Dixon's Boy Scout troops to Camp Rotary using the funds originally appropriated for the Jamboree to defray expenses. The boys would be encamped one week.

If committeemen approve the money appropriated to send one boy or two boys to the Jamboree will be used to send entire troops to Camp Rotary.

Need Dying Plea

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Malcolm Walton's death-bed plea against prosecution of his wife, Mrs. Viola Walton, 27, for shooting him will probably be fulfilled.

A coroner's jury last night exonerated her in connection with the shooting at her home July 14. Walton died yesterday of an infection resulting from a bullet wound.

Officers quoted the wife as saying she shot in self defense following a quarrel.

QUICK SIGNING OF PENSION ACT BY FDR IS SEEN

Social Security Bill Passed Senate Late Friday Afternoon

Washington, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Quick signing and inauguration of the administration's vast social security program enacted by Congress after months of maneuvering and turbulent debate, is indicated by President Roosevelt.

Introduced seven months ago, the legislation received final congressional blessing in the Senate yesterday without even a record vote. Shortly thereafter the President is expected to sign it.

The general expectation was that he would shortly set up a board of three to administer old age pensions. States will handle the unemployment insurance although the treasury will hold the funds. The children's bureau will control disbursements to help handicapped mothers and children.

Under the bill employers and employees eventually will be taxed 3 per cent each on wages up to $3,000 annually, to provide for old age pensions. Benefits range from $10 to $85 a month.

Seis Up System

The bill also sets up a Federal-state unemployment insurance system and calls for an appropriation of $100,000,000 next year by the federal government to provide for old age and grants to the blind, crippled and needy mothers. In addition, the government will offer $15 a month, to be matched by the states, for needy aged not cared for under the contributory pension systems.

The measure, which involves the largest tax burden ever approved by Congress, is designed to apply the old age and unemployment systems to 25,000,000 workers.

Opposition to the legislation crumpled when Senator Clark (D-Mo.) dropped his fight for an amendment to exempt companies and workers covered by private pension plans from the old age taxes the bill provides. He agreed to a plan to set up congressional committees to study the subject with a view to possible amendments next session.

EMPTY TRAIN DE- RAILED BY BOMB

Three Trainmen Injured in Apparent Renewal of Miners' War

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Three men were injured, two seriously when an Illinois Central freight train was derailed three miles south of here early today.

The blast derailed the locomotive and ten of the 110 empty cars the engine was pulling. The right-of-way was torn up, temporarily disrupting traffic.

Officials said they believed the tangled affairs of the Illinois coal miners' dispute was behind the dynamiting. Members of the United Mine Workers of America and the Progressive miners' organization have been at "war" for several years.

Police and railroad authorities said they presumed the blast was intended for the night train Chicago-bound with a load of coal.

Trainmen Injured

The injured were Wesley Westbrook, conductor, and Ira Fitzgerald, fireman, both seriously hurt, and W. F. Hoff, engineer. All reside at Clinton. They were brought to a hospital here.

The bombing was the first of its kind in three months. Chicago & Illinois Midland trains have been most frequent targets in the war.

The investigation apparently brought no clues of value.

A few persons have been taken into custody but none convicted during the long series of bombings in central and southern Illinois.

Westbrook and Fitzgerald, although painfully hurt when the engine went into a fill, were described as being out of danger.

Hoff said the south-bound "extra" freight was traveling about thirty miles an hour at the time of the blast. He said:

Engineer's Story

"Our forward movement seemed to stop and the engine to rise in the air about five feet. Then it came down. The fireman moved as if he intended to get out of the cab at the left side of the engine. I yelled to him to stay in the cab for it was the safest place. Neither of us had time to move farther before the engine reared up and pitched down the fill."

Damage was estimated at several thousand dollars, as Illinois Central crews sought to repair damage to the tracks, which are also used by the Chicago & Illinois Midland.

Several other bombings, mostly of C & I. M. trains, have occurred on the stretch of track south of Springfield, but it has been unusual for trainmen to be hurt or for engines to be ditched.

Hoff was a fireman when an Illinois Central train was held up by bandits at almost the same spot more than twenty years ago.

DOOR OF PRISON SHUTS ON TORSO SLAYERS FRIDAY

Dwight, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The society they offended by the calculated and brutal murder of Ervin Lang was shut off today from Mrs. Blanche Dunkel and Mrs. Evelyn Smith as they spent their first day in Oakdale women's reformatory.

The two women, brought here by automobile yesterday to begin 180 year terms, were not yet ready for the prison routine. For the present they were confined in the diagnostic hospital while decisions were being made as to their residence and employment. They will be given mental and physical examinations and immunized for certain diseases.

Mrs. Smith, who confessed to drugging, strangling and dismembering Lang upon promise of $500 from Mrs. Dunkel, the victim's mother-in-law, entered the reformatory with expressions of confidence it would offer a more secure life than she ever had known.

Mrs. Dunkel entered silent and remorseful, but ended the sobbing which marked her deportment during their brief trial. She spurned Mrs. Smith's efforts at reconciliation.

The women will not be eligible for parole for 60 years.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Charles Krahenbuhl and two daughters, Misses Clara and Edith at home.

CALL OUT FOR HELEN

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Three was a call out today for Helen (Boop-Boop) Kane. Process servers sought the singer in connection with a suit for $115, which Sydney Bosow, an attorney, says she owns for house rent.

From Police Sgt.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Chief of Police John Watt posted the following notice on the police station bulletin board:

"Hereafter no one other than the sergeant shall have access to the sergeant's office."

The reason—someone stole $5 from the sergeant's office, the business hot spot of the station.

DIVA SINGS AS SURGEONS OPER- ATE ON THROAT

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Surgeons today removed a goiter from Madame Amelita Galli-Curci, famous diva, while she sang notes and scales to permit them to study how the operation might affect her voice.

A bulletin issued by the physicians, Dr. Arnold Kegel and Dr. G. Raphael Dunlevy, said the operative soprano actually sang during the operation, performed with a local anesthetic.

"The patient used her voice clearly at various times during the operation," the physicians said.

The goiter, which was on the right side of her neck, weighed six and a quarter ounces and Dr. Kegel said it had been forming for approximately 15 years.

Dr. Kegel said he did not believe the operation would impair the singer's voice, although she would have to adjust her singing to changes in her throat.

The goiter was of the adenomatous type, a tumor growing in the thyroid gland, and measured 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 by 1/4 inches.

The trachea, or air passage in her throat, had been pushed out of line 1/4 inches, Dr. Kegel said, by the goiter. The physician said the famous diva carried the growth in her throat during the climax of her career, although it was much smaller then. She first experienced difficulty in singing about five years ago, he reported.

An artist drew pictures of the diva's throat during various stages of the operation, which lasted an hour and 10 minutes.

LABOR PRESSES ITS DEMAND FOR DUNHAM'S SCALP

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Chicago Federation of Labor's demand that Robert J. Dunham be removed from all public offices was on its way today to President Roosevelt, Governor Henry Horner, Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Illinois members of Congress.

The union groups request charged Dunham with a "domineering, harsh and unreasonable attitude" in reference to his position as chairman of the Chicago park district commission. Dunham also is Works Progress Administrator for Illinois and a member of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, from which he resigned as chairman to become WPA leader.

A letter was sent yesterday to the various officials. The request quoted a resolution adopted by representatives of 500 labor unions attacking Dunham for the park commission's refusal to permit the federation to use Soldier Field for a Labor Day celebration unless it guaranteed that the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit would not appear on the program.

Calling it a "despotic order," the resolution said compliance would "constitute an act of self-stultification and an abject surrender of freedom of thought."

Lone Puppy Remains of 24 Born Friday

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A lone puppy remained alive today of a litter of 24 born to "Palsy," mongrel female dog.

Twelve of them were inadvertently crushed to death by the mother shortly after their birth Wednesday. Parents of Dorothy Gabriel, 14 years old, owner of the dog, disposed of 11 survivors yesterday.

While Palsy was attracting attention of the curious in East St. Louis dog catchers in adjoining Centerville township began rounding up some of its estimated 5,000 stray dogs.

A campaign to impound stray dogs was begun after 75 persons were reported bitten during the past two weeks.

Simonson in police court this morning and were assessed fines of $100 and costs. In default of $100 fines both were remanded to the county jail to serve 60 days each. The two were arrested Thursday night in connection with the city's drive to rid the streets of vagrants.

FIRED JAIL MATTRESSES

William T. Curran of this city smoked out a meeting of a patriotic organization in the G. A. R. hall last night and also badly damaged two mattresses which were for the convenience of prisoners in the city jail. Patrolman Clarence Seagraves arrested Curran early last evening and locked him up in the city jail. About 8:30, women attending the meeting in the G. A. R. hall complained of a dense smoke which disrupted their meeting and the police upon investigating, found that Curran had set fire to a mattress. The firemen were notified and extinguished the blaze with chemicals, but the city hall was filled with smoke. A half hour later, the police were called to investigate a second time only to find that another mattress was burning and the firemen extinguished the blaze. This morning Curran was assessed a fine of $25 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge when arraigned before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson in police court, which he paid.

Crushed Beneath a Falling Conveyor at Coal Yards

Daniel Eugene Raymond, veteran coal dealer of this city, met a tragic death yesterday afternoon, the result of the snapping of a half-inch bolt on a portable coal conveyor in the Raymond coal yard on Brinton avenue. Mr. Raymond was superintending overhauling the conveyor, on which two of his employees, Paul Frederic and Charles Stewart, were working, when the heavy steel conveyor fell, pinning him to the ground. His chest was badly crushed, several broken ribs puncturing the lungs and causing his death less than two hours later at the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital. He also sustained a compound fracture of the left ankle and a cut on the head.

The accident occurred about 4 o'clock in the coal yards as Mr. Raymond was superintending installation of an electric motor to operate the portable coal conveyor used in loading coal from the bins onto trucks. A bolt had been removed to facilitate the installation of the motor and a second bolt snapped under the weight of the heavy machine which fell, striking Mr. Raymond and causing the fatal injuries. Stewart attempted to prevent the conveyor from striking his employer and he sustained minor injuries. Frederic escaped uninjured.

Death Came at 5:30.
Mr. Raymond was removed to his home as soon as the employees and others had removed the conveyor from his body and within a few minutes, after the arrival of a physician, was taken to the hospital. He was suffering from severe shock and his death relieved his suffering at 5:30.

Coroner Frank M. Banker of Franklin Grove conducted an inquest at the Preston mortuary this morning at 9 o'clock, the jury returning a verdict of accidental death resulting from injuries and shock.

Mr. Raymond was a highly respected citizen of Dixon and vicinity. He had been engaged in the coal business since 1903, operating the yard just north of his residence at 706 Brinton avenue. He was a former resident of South Dixon township and was a member of a prominent and highly respected pioneer family of this locality. He was born July 5, 1861, at Lenawee county, Mich., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Raymond, who became pioneer settlers of Lee county. He came to this vicinity when a child with his parents who settled on a farm in South Dixon in 1866.

In 1903 he with his father entered the business which was known as the D. B. Raymond & Son Coal Company, in which he has since continued. During the past several years his son Philip has been associated with him in the business. He was an elder emeritus in the First Presbyterian church of this city, where he had been one of the most active members for a period of many years. He was united in marriage to Miss Helen Young of this city, Feb. 5, 1896, she having preceded him in death several years ago. Surviving are one son, Philip, of this city; two sisters, Miss Agnes Raymond of Dixon and Mrs. Florence Baldwin of Beloit, Wis., and many other distant relatives.

Funeral services will be conducted from his late home Monday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. J. Frank Young, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating, and with interment in Oakwood.

Buick Company will Spend Huge Amount

Flint, Mich., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Buick Motor Company announced today that $14,500,000 is being expended for expansion and rehabilitation of its manufacturing facilities.

Harlow H. Curtice, president and general manager, said the program involving the complete modernization of all Buick's 30 manufacturing divisions in "preparation for a substantially increased production in 1938."

Some of the work was made necessary because of expansion in Buick manufacturing operations for other General Motors Corp. units, the announcement said, but most of it involves re-tooling and rearranging plants manufacturing Buick parts.

Very clearly the upturn is marked by the purposeful downstrokes of steam shovels. Not so long ago there were plenty of people to watch excavations, but they had nothing to watch. These days a couple of fine, large holes are being dug right in the Rialto. Broadway looks a little like the Alamo. Marie and her chattering pneumatic drills help along the impression.
It is a very bad thing for idle New Yorkers not to have excavations to watch. They get disgruntled and listen to the radical orators in Columbus Circle. But give them a steam shovel, a derrick or two, some panning trucks and sporadic blasting and they are content.

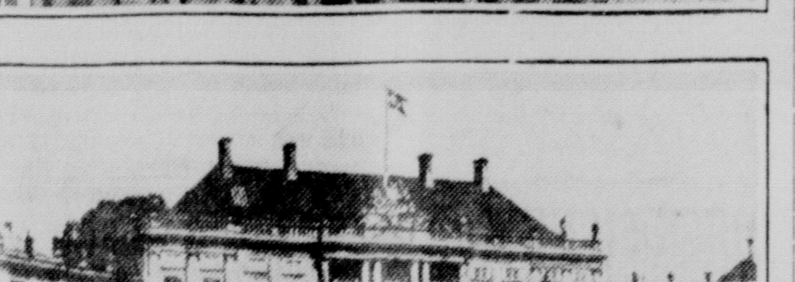

Along the entire block between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Streets at Times Square is a yawning pit recent site of two ancient theaters. Also the northwest corner of the crossroads of the world, where the Rialto Theater stood, is just a deep cavity in the island's bedrock. Everybody from Al Smith to legions of jobless musicians stops to watch. Will the shovel operators be able to grapple those huge stones? Will the booms withstand their weights? Can the grunting trucks negotiate the steep incline? Will the dynamite man make a misstep and blow himself to glory? It's all a fine outdoor theater, with a satisfying symphony of mingled din.

"Twas a dark and stormy night. The rainman was signaling the engineer when he dropped his lantern and it fell from the top of the car to the ground. Another man passing by, tossed it back up to him. In a few minutes the engineer came rushing up to the scene. "Let me see you do that again," he shouted. "Do what?" demanded the puzzled trainman. "Jump from the top of that car to the ground and then jump back up again."

"How's the wife?" he asked. "Not very well," said Jones. "Is that her cough?" "No, you fathead," replied Jones. "It's a hen house."—United Effort.

A Civil War veteran had spent a week at a New York hotel. When he went to pay his bill the clerk asked: "What was your rank?" "Oh, just a private," the old soldier replied. "Well, I don't charge you anything. You are the first private I ever met."—Montreal Star.

50,000 Danes Ask King for Relief

Demanding economic relief, 50,000 peasants from all sections of Denmark massed before the royal palace of Amalienborg in Copenhagen, as shown in lower photo, and cheered King Christian, who addressed them from the balcony—but gave notice that other demonstrations would follow unless action were taken. After speaking to the throng, the monarch referred its leaders to the minister of state. Shown above with the king as he spoke are other members of the royal family. Left to right, the queen, Princess Caroline Mathilde, Prince Knud, Crown Prince Frederick, and Crown Princess Ingrid.

to church and clergy, but never should be less than $10. Music costs $15, and includes two wedding marches and incidental soft music during the vow-taking. Candles (if he wants candles) set a man back $5 if he decides to brighten up the church, $2 if he rents the chapel. An awning from door to curb brings a $50 rental. People don't witness marriages just for the romantic thrill of it, so there is a witness fee of $1 per person if the church provides them.
One thing a bride and groom get for nothing is a year's membership in the family of the Little Church Around the Corner. After that, though, it costs a dollar a year to remain in the fold.

Farmer's Wife and Childhood Lover Accused of His Death
Salem, N. J., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Riches just beyond her reach, contrasted with a life of drudgery as a farmer's wife, caused Mrs. Marguerite F. Dolbow to plan with Norman Driscoll the slaying of her husband, Sheriff Hubert Layton said today.
Two fortunes aggregating $140,000, officials said, were withheld from the 28-year-old school teacher because of her marriage to Harry Y. Dolbow, plodding tenant farmer, who was beaten to death with the iron axle of a harrow as he did his chores last Friday night.

The possibility that by disposing of him she might win her way to wealth provided the "main motive" for the crime, Sheriff Layton said. State police consider the revival of a childhood love affair between Mrs. Dolbow and Driscoll as a secondary motive of the crime for which they are charged.

Regarding accident reports the blanks of which have recently been placed in the hands of coroners, sheriffs, police officers and highway officials, Mr. Branigan said no report of accidents is compulsory except in instances where injury or death to one of the accident victims occurs.

COURT MARTIAL VERDICT IS APPROVED BY FDR

Washington, Aug. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has approved the court martial verdict of guilty against Brigadier General Alexander E. Williams, former Assistant Quartermaster General of the army, and ordered him dismissed from the service effective Aug. 12.

Williams, who holds the permanent rank of Colonel, was found guilty on May 23 of having solicited and obtained a loan of $2,500 from Frank Speicher, an automobile tube salesman, while he was assistant to the Quartermaster General in charge of the transportation division.
The court martial recommended that Williams be dismissed.
The charges were preferred as a result of an investigation by the Inspector General of the army at the direction of Secretary Dern. They revolved around numerous allegations of lobbying activities in the War Department by representatives of automobile and other concerns.

A native of Linden, N. Car., Williams was graduated from West Point in 1888.

WILL COUNTY IS PRESSING PROBE OF PRISON BREAK
Joliet, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—State's Attorney William R. McCauley said today he would press his independent investigation of Henry "Midget" Fernekes' escape from the old prison "regardless of what the penitentiary officials do."

While the quiz started by Gov. Henry Horner and the Department of Public Welfare apparently languished, McCauley said he hoped for "interesting developments" soon.
"Penitentiary and state investigators seem to have taken the attitude that Will county is not concerned with the Fernekes escape," McCauley said. "I hold that the county is intimately concerned when a desperado of his type is spewed forth on the community."

Horner said the state's investigation "will never be closed until we find out how Fernekes obtained the clothes for his disguise." The diminutive killer walked out past three guards last Saturday. As a result four prison employees were discharged for "negligence."

Warden George F. Sehring said he was leaving the investigation in the hands of the Department

GROWING UP?

WHAT is the matter with us? asks an earnest reader. "Here we are faced by social chaos, financial crisis, moral upheaval, and political revolution, and we are like babes lost in the woods."

"We seem to have been turning out men, and women too, who, however well they may be equipped technically, lack entirely the character of adults. Also, if they grow older, they never grow up at all. 'Do you remember the Shaw play in which Confucius talks to the President of the British Islands about Englishmen and their odd ways? For fear you do not, here is what the President suddenly says:

"Yes, you're right. We are just a lot of schoolboys. There's no denying it. Talk to an Englishman about anything serious, and he listens to you curiously for a moment, and then goes back to his golf, or motor, or flying or women, like a bit of stretched elastic when you let go."

"The same is true of Americans, only more so. The American tends to stay a boy all his life, generous, brave, but lacking imagination and unable either to think deeply or create intensely."

"We are full of fixations and repressions, frightened by words, at the mercy of slogans and catchwords, spoon-fed, led about by the nose, unable or unwilling to do any thinking for ourselves."

"It is all so childish. Any man with a toy balloon can get a following, and the more fantastic the gas-bag and the more brightly it is colored, the greater the crowd that goes after it."

Yes, apparently so on the surface. But people are beginning to think betimes, taught by their skins if not by their heads. On my part is a letter from a truck-driver asking questions so clear and keen-cutting that they go down to the core of the situation.

"We are growing up. Even the rah-rah boys in college have learned, and are told, that there are other things in life besides sex, alcohol and gay parties. Our agitation is also education, and things are going to be very different in the days that lie ahead."

LeFevre-Fulmer Wedding Today

A quiet, yet pretty wedding of much interest to their many friends, was solemnized this morning at 10 o'clock at the Baptist parsonage by the pastor of the church, Rev. W. W. Marshall. At this time, Miss Pearl L. LeFevre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee L. LeFevre, and Robert H. Fulmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert L. Fulmer, all of this city, were united in marriage.

The bride was lovely in her gown of yellow and brown crepe, with accessories harmonizing, wearing a smart hat in the same colors. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer LeFevre attended the couple. The matron of honor wore an attractive gown in blue crepe with harmonizing accessories. Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a short wedding trip, and on their return will be at home in an apartment which they have furnished at 704 N. Galena avenue.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fulmer are employed in the confectionery division at Borden's, and both are popular in a large circle of friends. She is a charming and competent young woman, and he is a splendid young man. He possesses a beautiful baritone voice and has sung many times for Dixon audiences, and with the Dixon and Kable Bros. bands, winning much praise as a soloist. The Telegraph joins many others in extending to these estimable young people best wishes for a successful and happy wedded life.

Tested RECIPES

USING FRESH MINT

Apple mint jelly blends well with hot or cold meats. It is flavored and very pretty.

An August Sunday Dinner

Fruit Melon Cocktail
Roast Beef
Browned Carrots
Buttered Peas
Bread
Apple Mint Jelly
Cabbage And Pimiento Salad
Peach Ice Cream
Cocoanut Cookies
Coffee or Iced Tea
Fruit Melon Cocktail

6 rings honey-dew
6 slices pineapple
12 black cherries
Chill all ingredients and arrange on serving plates. Garnish green leaves and sprinkle with 2 table-spoons lime juice.

Apple Mint Jelly

12 cups quartered apples
5 cups water
1 cup chopped mint
Sugar

Wash apples, cut in quarters and remove any imperfections. Apples should not be pared or cored when used for jelly. Add water and cover. Simmer about 30 minutes or until apples are very soft. Pour into jelly bag and let drip. Add mint to juice and simmer 15 minutes. Strain, and for each 4 cups juice add 3 cups sugar. Boil juice and sugar until it "jells" when tested on cold plate. Pour into sterilized jars and seal when cold.

It is advisable to color juice after sugar has been added with green vegetable coloring to give the desired mint tint.

Peach Ice Cream

(With Custard Base)

1 cup sugar
1-4 cup flour
1-8 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
2 cups milk
1 cup whipped cream
2 cups crushed peaches
2 teaspoons vanilla

Blend sugar, flour and salt. Add eggs and milk. Cook in double boiler until mixture becomes thick and creamy. Cool, add rest of ingredients. Pour into tray in mechanical refrigerator and in about 4-12 hours the cream will be stiff enough to serve. The cream can be frozen by regular freezer method.

MISS HOGAN RETURNS FROM CHICAGO VISIT

A LITTLE LAUGH

A woman motorist was driving along a country road when she noticed a couple of repairmen climbing telephone poles.

High Lights On the Avenue

Greetings to friends on the Avenue! Here are a few bits of news gathered hither and yon, for your approval.

Nice to Meet.

On passing down the Avenue this morning we met Mrs. M. E. Potter, and soon afterward her good husband, both busy with details of the Potter cleaning establishment, and both as congenial and pleasant as always. No wonder their business is growing—it should.

Bought Christmas Goods.

Miss Alice Meppen has been visiting the art and gift exhibits at the Chicago market this week, doing some Christmas buying for the trade at the Gift & Art Shop, on Galena avenue.

Attended Style Revue.

Mrs. Edna Nattress attended some of the style revues in Chicago this week, purchasing goods for the Nattress Gown Shop.

Buying for Autumn.

Mrs. Harry Beard of the Kathryn Beard Shoppe spent last week and has also spent most of this week in Chicago buying fall and winter merchandise, coats and gowns, etc.

Buying Jewelry for Christmas.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. E. Trein returned Wednesday evening from Chicago where they had been three days attending the jewelry and gift markets, buying for the Christmas trade, from New York importers. Mrs. Trein says the air conditioned trains are a blessing this hot weather.

The Famous Mays.

Someone told us the other day about some famous Mays and here they are:

Queen of the.....
.....West
.....baskets
.....apples
.....be!

P. S. Mae West spells it with an "e", we think.

Many Inducements to Buy.

Milestones: Buy some cheese and you get a drinking glass; buy pickles and they come in a vase; get some honey and it's in a pitcher. Even vinegar throws in a flask. Soon a bride won't have to buy anything but food to set up housekeeping, if these mfrs. keep up! What you don't get that way you can send box-tops for!

Overstreet's Visit Jewelry Marts.

Gordon Overstreet and Miss Ruth Overstreet of the Overstreet Jewelry store purchased Christmas merchandise at the Chicago jewelry markets and importers displays in the city this week.

Shopping for Christmas.

When we hear of merchants buying goods for the holidays it makes us think of the good old Christmas slogan—so many "shopping days till Christmas." Well, ladies, you have about 125 or 130 shopping days till Christmas. Not so many, after all. And some people are beginning now to pick up a few things for Christmas.

New Fall Hats.

Chic and zippy fall hats have made their pristine appearance on the millinery counters, in black, brown, orchid, some reds and blues.

Does Not Feel Heat.

Gordon Overstreet says that C. H. Sargent does not feel the heat. In fact Mr. Sargent has no information of his employees many times during the recent hot weather when everyone else was panting for breath. Well, that certainly is encouraging, for we all know how uncertain life is.

Gifts Intrigue.

Miss Geisenheimer and Miss Slothower of the Geisenheimer store who visited the importers holiday exhibits in Chicago, say gifts this year are intriguing. Intriguing is a good word there—gifts intrigue the eye and—the pocketbook as well.

White Wash Around Eyes.

Did you see the picture on a popular magazine of the gal who had acquired a wonderful coat of salmon pink syntan, and to get a good close-up in the sanctity of her boudoir, she leaned forward and took off her dark glasses, when lo and behold, etched on the charmingly astonished face were two chalk white glasses with rims—just where the dark glasses had shielded her from the sun. Well, we saw a gal in much the same condition this morning. When she took off her dark glasses, around her eyes was the unburned natural complexion, which looked right funny against the dark tan of her cheeks and forehead.

Never Trouble Trouble.

Never trouble trouble, till trouble troubles you. Well, taken in many ways, that is a good slogan. In other words, if you mind your own business you generally keep out of trouble.

Visit Style Marts.

Mrs. Wm. Harkins of the Vogue Shop visited the markets in Chicago a few days since, buying fall and winter merchandise for her shop.

Mrs. J. W. Sipe who has left with her husband on a vacation to the Rocky Mountains, spent several days in the city purchasing goods for the Marilyn Shop, which she left in the competent care of Mrs. Durward Brader.

Like Substitute for Bath Powder.

These hot days a good many women are using the new body perfumes instead of bath powder. The best ones are as cooling as plain cologne, but have a lingering scent that makes separate perfume unnecessary.

Joe Eichler In City.

Joe Eichler of the Eichler Bros. department store, and the Shoe Annex, was in Chicago Thursday purchasing Christmas merchandise and viewing fall shoe styles and buying same.

Vacation Visit in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Milo Vorhis of the Geisenheimer sales force has returned from a vacation visit in Minneapolis and other points in Minnesota, and reports a delightful time.

Serve as First or Last Course.

Like melon? Then honey dew have some! Combine cubes or balls of honey dew melon with slices of ripe banana, oxcheart cherries, and segments of grapefruit the canned variety for ease. Serve as a first or last course.

A Father's Cruelty Wrecks Many Homes

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Thus runs the sad content of some letters:

"I have such lovely children, but their father is so mean to them. He takes delight in humiliating them before their friends. Nothing seems too cruel or too selfish for him to say or do."

"I've invented reasons to defend his behavior until I'm all out of reasons. I am sick and tired and sometimes wonder if I'd better leave and try some way to support the children myself. I can't go on this way any longer."

This is a fair composite of the despairing communications. Some are not quite so tragic. Others, going into details of family troubles, are pitiful beyond belief. When I read them I want to cry out to these heart-broken women, "Get down on your knees and pray," because it seems beyond any mere mortal's ability to help.

There is no need to describe the man. It takes little imagination to visualize the father of a fine family who enlarges his overbearing ego by watching his wife and children cringe and cower. Sometimes he gets nasty by drink, but some of the worst examples of tyrant I have known thought themselves paragons of virtue.

"Hatter's Castle" pictured him. So did "Wild Geese." Literature has chosen him as the perfect exemplification of soul depravity. No, he is not an admirable character.

Usually these letters entreat explanations. "Why, does he do it? Why wouldn't he be proud of such dutiful and smart children who try to love him but are too afraid?"

There are several reasons. One is that at home as a boy he may have been coddled and petted. He was monarch of his world and was served like a king. He resents an environment that can no longer cater to his magnificence complex.

He still annexes the best in the house, but if that were all he could perhaps be forgiven. The best is not enough. He resorts to race and innuendo and threats. He reserves the right to glower and gloom and insult and scold, but woe betide anyone else who even looks discouraged or resentful. He demands marry sunshine in return for merry hell.

That may be and is perhaps the commonest reason.

Blow at Wife, Too

Next there is the man who simply cannot resist torturing his wife, and he knows the best way to do it is through the children. A blow at them is a double blow at her.

There is the psychological side of it, too—the disposition that was born sadistic and get its thrills by watching other writhe. Heavy drinking accents this tendency.

Usually I am asked about the advisability of a separation. If mere leaving would solve the problem the answer is easy. But every mother, unhappy as she is, has to remember that separation affects children in another way. A child feels the humiliation of the broken family, or the insecurity of it if he is not old enough to sense the emotional side. Furthermore, even though money is scarce, support is support and a mother in the working world if she is lucky enough to find a job will worry because she cannot give her family full care.

It is an almost unbearable cross to carry, this senseless attitude of a husband and father, but time passes some way, and some day it may be reward enough to say, "I stuck it out."

REAL 'ENEMY WITHIN' CAN BE OURSELVES

There is a great deal of talk about the enemies of democracy. It usually centers on the Communists, or the Fascists, or some other sort of organized effort to set up new forms of government.

But those are not the real enemies of democracy. They are not the real danger to the free form of government that we love.

The real danger is in ourselves, in those of us who profess to be devoted to democratic and free government, and yet who won't bestir ourselves to do anything about it. No form of popular government can succeed unless the average man will take an active and conscious part in it.

Put yourself under the microscope for a minute. What have you done to make democracy work? Did you take any part in the last primaries to see that decent candidates were nominated? Did you talk to your neighbors and friends about the candidates?

You needn't be a professional political worker to take an active, intelligent, and important interest in these things.

Did you vote in the election? Did you discuss the election with friends and neighbors, using your influence for the man you believed best qualified?

Did you take the trouble to look up the record of your congressman? And did you talk and work against him if it didn't suit you; did you help him if it did? Do you follow the papers carefully and watch the records of your local judges?

Are you the kind of person who likes to get parking tickets "fixed"? A small matter, true. But people who demand this sort of "special privilege" should be the last to complain of police corruption brought on by the same sort of special privileges sought on a larger scale by people less reputable than you know you are.

The next time we get discouraged with the working of democracy, let's each ask ourselves this question: What have I done, this last year, to make it work better?

NOTHING BUT DREAMS

There is something rather pathetic about the election of a white-haired old refugee in Paris as "Hetman" of all the Don Cossacks now scattered throughout the world.

Driving taxicabs, acting as waiters or porters, or working at any kind of jobs they can get, these remnants of a once-proud breed find it hard to forget. So they continue as best they can to keep up the old forms and the old ways. By a world-wide mail ballot they have chosen Count Grabbe as their Hetman, and presented him with the "boulaya" staff that was once the symbol of supreme power over the wild horsemen of the Don.

And the 67-year-old man could only say to the 2000 followers who witnessed the empty ceremony, "I have no plans, only dreams."

Even that is something. There are people who have lost even their dreams. They are the people really to be pitied.

HIDDEN TREASURE

If someone gave out authentic word of a hidden $185,000,000 treasure, what a rush there would be to dig it out and cash in on it!

There is such a treasure, scattered all over the country in the form of government bonds and notes which have matured and which the owners have never turned in. The government wants to pay them off and is urging any who know of such securities to dig them up and turn them in for cash.

Of course the securities have ceased to bear interest, and there is no valid reason why any owners should not cash them.

Think back carefully. Are you sure that odd book of war savings stamps, that Liberty or Victory loan certificate, hasn't been mislaid or for some other reason not cashed? It might be worth while to go through those old trunks in the attic, for some of these overdue government securities date back to Civil War days and before. A few have been overdue more than a century.

Rummage around a bit, or ask dad, or even grandpa—maybe they know. It might pay.

LONG PULL OPTIMISM

British unemployment, says the conservative Federation of British Industries, "should be solved, in major part, within less than 10 years."

This statement, regarded as sensationally optimistic, followed publication of government figures showing that for the first time since 1930 unemployment figures have fallen to less than 2,000,000.

Remember that Britain had an unemployment situation, and a bad one, for several years before we did. The British fight against it has been slow, but unremitting. Now they are thinking in terms of 10 years, but still determined, still hopeful.

This shows the bitterness of the struggle against the Fifth Horseman, who rides so relentlessly these days. It shows that the fight may be long, but that determination and sustained effort can and will win it.

I never want to have a husband who smokes a pipe.—Mlle. Denise Leboisellier, elected France's "queen" of smokers.

The people who cheer loudest when you succeed are those who throw pop bottles the hardest when you fail.—Babe Ruth.

All Americans love France and hate the French.—Gelett Burgess, author.

THE TINYMITES

"Hey, Dotty, let that beast alone. This likely it will bark or groan," cried Scouty. "It is hard to tell just what the thing will do."

"Gee, in our travels everywhere, I have seen common beasts and rare, but I will tell you, frankly, that this fellow's something new."

The trainer of Freak Forest smiled and said, "Don't worry, youngsters. He's not wild. That fellow is a hound-nag and he'll do just what I say."

"Why, he can kick and dash around and bark just like a monstrous hound. I know he will be glad to join you Tinies in your play."

"Bust, first, I'll make him do a trick. I've trained him and he's very slick." Once more the trainer cracked his whip. The hound-nag stood up straight.

"Now, greet this bunch, and bow your head," the trainer very shortly said. "Then you can run around and show them all your funny gait."

The beast performed for quite a while and then Dotty, with a smile, said, "Gee, I'd like to ride on him. I'll bet 'twould be a thrill."

"Perhaps I am too heavy, though, and with me on, he wouldn't go," Then Coppy added, "Yes, and you might also take a spill."

"Oh, you're both wrong," the man replied. "It is quite safe to take a ride. Why, he can carry two of you at once. I'm sure of that."

"All right, then, I will hop aboard," brave Scouty very promptly roared, and as he did, fair Goldy shouted, "Hang on to your hat!"

The youngster rode around a bit. Then Coppy yelled, "I'm going to sit behind you on the hound-nag. We will both be safe and sound."

When he had crawled up to his place, a smile spread on the trainer's face, because the beast began to toss the two lads all around.

OBITUARY

Miss Isabelle Spratt

Isabelle Spratt was born July 12, 1868 at Killiney, County Down, Ireland. When an infant, she came to this country and with her parents, settled near Dixon, Ill., and has since made her home in this community.

Following the death of her mother thirty-seven years ago, she kept the home for her father and cared for him in his declining years, and later made her home with her sister, Mrs. John Hewitt, and since the death of her sister, in 1928, has kept house for Mr. Hewitt at this place.

On April 14, 1929, she united with the Presbyterian church at this place and was regular in her attendance at church services and at Sunday school until her recent ill health prevented her so doing. She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian Aid Society.

"Aunt Belle," as she was known to relatives and friends, was loved by all who knew her, being a most patient and sympathetic woman, always thinking of others before herself, and was always ready to assist anyone. She will be greatly missed.

Her death Saturday terminated a life of 67 years, 12 days. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Jane Leader of Oakland, Iowa; two brothers, Alex of Shell Lake, Wis., and Joe of Julesburg, Colo.; several nieces and nephews. Her father, mother, six brothers and two sisters, have preceded her in death.

"There is a world above, Where parting is unknown A whole eternity of love Formed for the good alone; And faith beholds the dying here Translated to that happier sphere."

Rev. C. P. Blekking, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, conducted the funeral service in the home and church Tuesday afternoon. He used for his text, Mark 14:8—"She hath done what she could."

Misses Georgia Peterman and June Hatch sang two beautiful funeral numbers, "In the Garden," and "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," while Miss Helen Senger accompanied at the pipe organ.

Interment was made in the Franklin Grove cemetery. The casket-bearers were: Blaine Hussey, Henry Withey, Wm. Alberston, John Morrie, J. T. Gilbert and Joe Gilbert.

KNOT HOLE NEWS

VOLUME 3. AUGUST 10, 1935. No. 32

Young Lawyer: "What's the matter, the jury has been out three days."

Old Attorney: "They're all married men. They don't care when they get home."

We guarantee it will pay you well to get our price on any sort of building material. Try it.

Tombstone Dealer: (after several futile suggestions): "How would just a simple 'Gone Home' do for an inscription?"

The Widow: "I guess that will be all right. It was always the last place he ever thought of going."

You May Expect Longer Wearing MULE-HIDE SERVICE only when the Mule-Hide trade-mark is on the roofing or shingles you buy.

Visitor: "What became of that hired man you got from the city?"

Farmer: "Aw, he used to be a chauffeur, and he crawled under a mule to see why it wouldn't go."

The unhappy are always wrong, wrong in being so, wrong in saying so, wrong in making others so.

Sometimes it costs more to delay an improvement than to make it.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

IF THE SUN WERE A TENNIS BALL, THE EARTH COULD BE REPRESENTED BY A GRAIN OF SAND, 23 FEET AWAY! AND, IF THESE TWO OBJECTS WERE PLACED AT NEW ORLEANS, THE NEAREST STAR, REDUCED TO THE SAME SCALE, WOULD BE ANOTHER TENNIS BALL, AS FAR DISTANT AS DULUTH, MINN.

THE GARBAGE OF NEW YORK CITY IS VALUED AT $1,000,000 A YEAR AS FERTILIZER AND HOG FEED.

LOBSTERS ARE REAL BLUE-BLOODS! THEIR BLOOD PIGMENT IS NOT HAEMO-GLOBIN, BUT HAEMO-CYANIN, A BLUE COPPER COMPOUND.

as a tennis ball placed at New Orleans, only a few of our closest star neighbors could be shown, even though a map of the entire world were used. The nearest star, placed at Duluth, would represent a star 26 trillion miles away.

SUN-TAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO FRAGONET breaks her engagement to BRETT PAUL, college athlete star, because Brett subjects her to a job as hostess at the lake inn, fashionable summer resort, owned by wealthy DOUGLAS WARSH.

Jo goes to Great Lake Warsh's exclusive mother dilates her and causes difficulties. These are increased when BRETT FRAGONET, who is in the lake inn, is told that he is to be married to Jo as soon as he can secure a divorce.

Brett Paul comes to Great Lake as a life guard. HARRY MONTGOMERY, school acquaintance who is in love with Jo, is also there.

Fragonet leaves and returns when his firm company undertakes to make part of a motion picture at the resort. He asks Jo to return to Hollywood with him. She delays her decision.

Jo becomes friends with LILA MONTEZ, actress. During a scene on the lake Lila narrowly escapes drowning and is rescued by Brett Paul.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXX
JO'S realization that it was Brett Paul and not Peter Fragonet who had rescued her from the lake was momentarily swept away in the excitement. As Brett dived from the speedboat Jo surged forward with the rest of the crowd straining to catch a glimpse of Lila Monter on the bright sunlit surface of the lake. Drann, thoroughly frightened and excited now was leaping up and down in the boat, shouting unnecessary directions at the top of his lungs.

Then Brett bobbed into view and beside him Jo saw with relief the bedraggled dark hair of Lila Monter. An involuntary cry went up from the crowd on shore as Drann helped Brett lift the inert figure into the boat. Then, as Fragonet struggled aboard, the cry stopped abruptly—as if there was only the silence of contempt for him.

Queerly, despite her feelings for Lila, Jo was sorry for Fragonet. They had no right to lift him up, then dash him down in silence just because he'd never learned to swim well enough. Drann had driven him just as he'd driven Monter from that tower. And Fragonet had argued with Drann. Suddenly he'd hated with inside her for this stocky, egotistical Drann who could gamble with lives to gain a few seconds' effect on the screen.

There was no more "shooting" that day, and as Jo and Tuffy walked back to the Inn they were strangely silent. On the veranda Jo said, "I wish you'd come up to my room, Tuffy."

Inside Jo's room she faced Tuffy Davis. "Why didn't you tell me Brett Paul saved my life that day on the lake?"

"Why, I thought you knew," Tuffy exclaimed. "I—who did you think did it?"

"I thought it was Fragonet," Tuffy sank into a chair. "Well, am I relieved! I was wondering what had got into you. It didn't seem like you to ignore the fact that Brett had saved your life. Not even to thank him for it. I tried to open up the subject several times but you always cut me off."

"I didn't even know Brett was at Great Lake then."

"He'd come just that morning," Tuffy said. "He was standing on the shore having his first view of the lake when Babs hit your sail boat."

Jo stared at the wall. "I wonder what he must think of me? I can understand a lot of things now."

"I don't know what Brett thinks of you," Tuffy said. "But I know I'm sure he thinks of this Fragonet. Letting you believe he saved your life. Why it's all he can do to keep himself afloat. He proved that today."

Jo smiled. "He didn't let me believe it. I'm sure he thinks I know it was Brett Paul."

"But haven't you ever mentioned it to him?"

"I started to thank him when I regained consciousness after the accident, but he wouldn't let me talk about what happened. He didn't want me to get disturbed about it—and I suppose I thought he was being modest 'bout what he'd done. So I never referred to it again."

"Well, don't you think it's time you were referring to it—to Brett?" Jo nodded soberly. "You don't have to remind me of that, Tuffy. That's something I'm going to do right now."

But Brett was neither at the lake nor in his cottage, and one of the house boys explained to Jo that "Mistah Paul" was in conference with Silas Drann. "He take place Mistah Fragonet in swim tomlor!" The little Oriental grinned knowingly.

"If you see Mr. Paul I wish you'd tell him I'm very anxious to see him," Jo instructed.

She returned to her room and found Tuffy sprawled on the bed munching chocolate creams. Hurriedly swallowing, Tuffy looked at her questioningly. "What did he say?"

"I didn't get to see him. Apparently he's going to double for Fragonet in that scene tomorrow. He's with Drann now."

"That's lucky for Monter," observed Tuffy, "as well as for Brett. Come to think of it, why wouldn't Brett Paul make a swell movie hero?"

"I guess he would, Tuffy."

Jo awakened next morning with Jo having heard from Brett. She wondered if he had received her message and was ignoring it. Perhaps he did not want to talk with her at all, now that he was so contemptuous of the man he thought she cared for. Perhaps he believed that a girl who would be interested in Fragonet deserved nothing, not even common courtesy.

Jo could understand his contempt for Fragonet. No two men she thought, were ever more unlike. To a boy like Brett Paul who had worked hard always for what little he could gain from life, Peter Fragonet must appear to be the epitome of worthlessness. And now Brett, proud of his own physical prowess, had seen Fragonet brand ed with cowardice.

It must have hurt Brett that Jo had said never a word about the day she was pitched unconscious from the sailboat. And it must have hurt him still more when he saw her accepting the attentions of Marsh and Barton—and Fragonet himself. Whatever was to happen in the future between her and Brett, she must find him and patch up the past.

Her resolve was easier made than carried out. All that day Brett, with his hair darkened and dressed to resemble Fragonet in the role of a forerunner, was busy with Drann's company. While Fragonet kept to his room, the company went through the scenes which had resulted in such a fiasco for the before.

Jo hung about the lake shore with Tuffy most of the day, pretending interest in the filming; in reality she was hoping to have a word with Brett. But Brett, quite literally spent most of the day in the lake or in Drann's speedboat. The only member of the company Jo had a chance to talk to was Lolita Monter, looking none the worse for her experience of the day before.

"You don't know how frightened you had me yesterday," Jo told her.

Monter smiled. "Those things will happen. And it certainly wasn't Fragonet's fault. Drann goes insane sometimes when he gets an idea into his head, and Fragonet had told him he didn't think he could handle the scene."

"You knew it, too?" asked Jo, amazed.

The actress shrugged. "It's part of the business," she said.

THEN Monter was called by Drann, and Jo saw her no more that day. Neither did she see Brett. The director worked his outfit like mad until the sun was weak behind the trees, and it was rumored that he planned to leave for Hollywood sooner than he had originally intended. The near-tragedy and disturbed his ego for he knew that almost all who had seen it held it against him. Drann found it no longer pleasing to show off before the spectators who lined the shore of the lake. And he knew, too, that Fragonet would probably be relieved indeed to get away from the stares of the men and women to whom he had been a hero one day and a coward the next.

Unable to have even a moment with Brett during the day, Jo told herself that she must go to his cottage that night. She mustn't let another day go by without telling Brett she appreciated what he had done. Even now he was likely to believe she was turning to him only because Fragonet had made a fool of himself at Great Lake. "But it isn't true that Fragonet made a fool of himself," Jo thought stoutly. "It was Drann who made a fool of him."

She had dinner earlier than usual, to escape the guests in the dining room and the long after-dinner conversations which usually went on over the coffee and cigars. Then, smiling her thanks at the house boy who had served her, Jo left her table.

But in the lobby she encountered Douglas Marsh.

"Hello, Jo! Had dinner already?"

"I hoped you'd take it with me. Have you anything planned right now?"

"Why . . . no."

"Good! Join me in a demi-tasse, at least. We must have a party for the movie crowd and I want to talk it over with you. Drann has decided to leave day after tomorrow. That means the party has to be tomorrow night. Rather short notice, but—" he grinned at her. "I guess we can show 'em a good time."

"Of course," Jo said.

"Come in and sit down with me and we'll make plans."

Silently Jo accepted Marsh's arm and returned to the dining room with him.

ROOSEVELT TAX PROGRAM DEALT BLOW IN SENATE

Committee Has Rejected Plan for Steeply Graded Schedules

Washington, Aug. 9—(AP)—President Roosevelt's tax program suffered a blow today when authoritative sources said the senate finance committee had rejected his plan for a steeply graduated tax on corporation incomes.

The president, in line with his declaration that "size begets monopoly," has asked that the present flat rate of 13 3/4 per cent on corporation net income be replaced by a tax ranging from 10 1/4 per cent to 16 1/4, depending on size of income.

The house, after hearing business and other spokesmen assail his as an unjust penalty on investors in large corporations as against investors in small ones, substituted a schedule calling for 3 1/4 percent tax on net income under $15,000, and 14 1/4 on income over that amount. This was described by Democratic legislators at the time as a mere "face saver" for the administration.

House Rates Approved

Last night, reports said, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee proposed that the president's plan be substituted for the house schedule. This was rejected by the committee, it was said, and the house rates approved.

The committee, meeting behind closed doors, is revamping the house bill, which calls also for increased surtaxes on individual net incomes of $50,000 or more, new inheritance taxes, new gift taxes, and excess profits taxes ranging from 5 to 20 percent on corporation profits.

The senate committee, speeding its consideration in an announced attempt to get the bill to the senate floor next week, also is reported to have rejected the house inheritance rates and altered the excess profits tax.

The committee, by a vote of 11 to 3, turned thumbs down on the house inheritance rates, which range from 4 percent to 75 percent, the former applying to the portion of a bequest between $50,000-$60,000 and the latter to that part of an inheritance over $100,000. The senators instructed experts, it was said, to prepare a new inheritance scale for tentative study.

Carter Enjoined from Taking Taxes

Chicago, Aug. 10—(AP)—A temporary injunction restraining Carter H. Harrison, internal revenue collector from collecting flour processing taxes from the B. A. Eckhart Milling Company was granted Friday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Carl Perkins and Owen A. West, attorney for the milling company, agreed to the injunction without argument because of a previous federal court ruling that AAA processing taxes are unconstitutional.

The company was required to post a bond of $85,000 to guarantee payment of the tax in event higher courts sustain the constitutionality of the AAA. The taxes total $84,000.

JARVIS LEAKE

(Contributed)

Jarvis Leake, son of Daniel and Emily (Jarvis) Leake was born on Temperance Hill, May 27, 1852 and passed away at the Amboy hospital, August 6, 1935 at the age of 83 years, 2 months and 10 days. His father who was developing a large tract of farm land passed away when he was but five years of age.

His mother, a typical pioneer woman, bravely carried on with her four small boys, who all grew to be highly respected, honest citizens and successful farmers and business men. Mrs. Leake passed on in 1886.

Mr. Leake was reared on the farm growing up as a practical farmer and his interests have ever centered in his agricultural operations. He received his education in the local school, supplementing it by attendance at the Dixon high and at the Jennings Seminary at Aurora, January 24, 1878. He was united in marriage with Miss Ida Jane Bates and to this union five children were born, Hazel and May who passed away in infancy, Mrs. Alice Bahen, who died Sept. 6, 1933, Mrs. Myrtle Wolcott, who died January 29, 1935 and Warren J. the only survivor of the family. Mrs. Leake passed away on June 14, 1932, four years after they had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1928 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Hubert Bahen.

Mr. Leake established his home on a farm on Temperance Hill and acquired other valuable farm lands in the vicinity. He was a successful stock raiser as well as farmer and was deeply interested in every phase of agriculture. He was a thrifty, hard-working man and could be seen early and late taking an active part in all of the varied forms of farm work.

In 1915, Mr. and Mrs. Leake retired and moved to Dixon where in 1918 he was elected president of the Dixon Trust & Savings Bank. He was an active worker in the Methodist Episcopal church and was a member of the official board for many years. He was also affiliated with the B. P. O. E.

Mr. Leake possessed a marked degree, those qualities which make for friendship, devotion, geniality, cordiality and the ability to always look on the bright side of life. His passing will be mourned by many and his memory cherished as a good and useful citizen, a true and upright man, a rich heritage to his family and country.

Besides the one son, Warren J., he leave five granddaughters and one grandson, two great grandchildren and many nieces and nephews. Besides his wife and four daughters, three brothers and one sister have preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at 2:00 P. M. at the home of his son, Warren J. Leake, near Lee Center. The Rev. E. M. Edwards of the Amboy M. E. church officiated and Mrs. Roy Long, also of Amboy sang. Burial was at the Temperance Hill cemetery.

HOOVER ENROUTE EAST ON BIRTHDAY; IS SILENT

Says His Trip to N. Y. C. is Strictly One of Business

Washington, Aug. 10—(AP)—Herbert Hoover entered his sixty-second birthday today a figure of political mystery to many.

The anniversary of that day in 1874, when he was born the son of a blacksmith at West Branch, Iowa, found him again enroute east from California. Business meetings will hold him in New York from Monday through Wednesday.

New opportunities to confer with Republican leaders will be afforded there, and at a time when the New Deal setback in Rhode Island has encouraged party organizers to greater efforts against the administration.

Because of the former President's increasing contacts with the G. O. P. command, his greater readiness of late to speak out on national policy, and uncertainty at the Capital as to his personal intentions regarding 1936, more than usual attention will be given any activity of a political savor.

No Schedule

It was said here no political conversations are scheduled. Since various prominent Republicans sought the Hoover ear on past trips, however, congressional quarters expect this one to be no exception.

If what has happened before is any criterion, those who so seek will find him ready to listen, but his lips shut tight when it comes to public discussion of nomination possibilities. Whether Hoover has any ideas about trying a comeback himself, a subject of disagreement in Washington, appears unlikely to be answered for some time.

TALKED "OLD TIMES"

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 10—(AP)—The sixty-second birthday anniversary of Herbert Hoover found the former president "on the move" and silent on national politics.

Headed eastward for a series of director's meetings in New York Hoover had a 45-minute visit with former Senator Reed Smoot of Utah as his train stopped here last night.

Both Hoover and the former Republican Senator denied they had discussed anything "big" "old times."

The former President parried questions of reporters and shied from discussion of the national political situation.

Opera Company to Honor Sam Insull

Chicago, Aug. 10—(AP)—The "vindication" of Samuel Insull, fallen utilities king, was a step closer to completion when the Chicago City Opera Company decided to honor him as a father of grand opera in Chicago.

Karletop Hackett, president of the new company, announced officials had decided to present to Insull a suitably-inscribed key to the front door of the opera house.

Similar keys, Hackett said, would be sent to Harold McCormick and Louis Eckstein, likewise credited with doing much for opera in Chicago. Insull became the patron saint of Chicago grand opera about 12 years ago, after the regime of the McCormick family, Hackett recalled.

"It was his organizing genius at that time which made possible the formation of a new company to continue presentation of fine music," Hackett said.
